Hunar Foundation & National Bank of Pakistan join hands to support the Pakistani Youth

National Bank of Pakistan (NBP) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Hunar Foundation with the objective to offer its alumni with the PM Youth Business Loan (PMYBL) Scheme that will serve as an innovative plan for the socio-economic development of youth, in an attempt to combat soaring unemployment in the country. The scheme is aimed at empowering youth and poor segments of population to set up small businesses thus aiding them in securing economic empowerment.

National Bank of Pakistan and Hunar Foundation Sign MoU for providing business opportunities for less privileged youth of Pakistan through the PMYBL Scheme.

60% OF PAKISTANI POPULATION COMPRISES OF YOUTH. WITH NO OPPORTUNITIES, THE YOUTH SUCCUMB TO OTHER MEASURES OF INCOME GENERATION.

Speaking at the occasion Mr. Javed Hassan, CEO Hunar Foundation said "The vision of Hunar Foundation is to see A Skilled Pakistan. We take great pains to provide technical training to young men and women from lesser privileged areas of the country and have them certified by globally recognized accreditation like City & Guilds, UK. Another aim is to make them well rounded individuals by teaching them Life Skills, Basic English and Math and preparing them for interviews. We appreciate the initiative of NBP in providing Hunar Foundation's Alumni loans to set up own businesses, and I personally thank Mr. Mudassir Khan and his organization for taking this initiative."

Mr. Mudassir Khan, SEVP/Group Chief CRBG said that the creation of multiple job opportunities signifies the strength and steadiness of overall economic performance. A country's capacity to generate employment depends upon its available human, technological and financial resources, combined with institutional strategies to achieve sustained economic growth. NBP takes pride in leading the PMYBL Scheme and being a catalyst for employment generation and poverty reduction.

Mr. Irtiza Kazmi, EVP/Head of Cash Management & PMYBL Coordination stated that Pakistan being the sixth most populous country in the world is faced with the serious issue of unemployment. NBP's unrelenting efforts to develop the business opportunities for the unemployed youth of Pakistan is the core component of the Bank's integrated community strategy. PMYBL Scheme is being promoted by NBP with a two pronged strategy of multiple employment generation and development of the hitherto neglected SME sector. PMYBL Scheme focuses on sustainable growth and development of youth through increasing productivity by supporting innovation and youth entrepreneurship.

Nageen Rizvi, VP/ Unit Head Marketing & Promotion, added that 60% of Pakistani population comprises of Youth. No Public or Private sector has the capacity to create enough jobs to absorb the youth boom. With no opportunities the youth succumb to other measures of income generation. PMYBL Scheme has been designed to empower the youth to create their own employment and earn a respectable living. NBP being the nation's bank is focusing on creation of more and better job opportunities for men and women based on internal markets, and communities which are main source of fostering productivity, entrepreneurship and demand driven skills.

Mr. Hans-Lorenz Fritz trains Hunar Students

Exciting workshops on Refrigeration & A/C

Hunar Foundation has always showed keen interest in bringing in the best faculty when it comes to the training and development of either its trainers or its trainees.

Recently at the Delhi Mercantile Society – Technical Institute, in Karachi the management and staff were honored to host a German expert, Mr. Hans-Lorenz Fritz; who conducted workshops in the campus for trainees who were enrolled in Refrigeration and Air Conditioning courses.

Mr. Fritz is a qualified expert in the fields of heating, ventilation and air conditioning technology. In recent years, he has traveled and conducting training in Moldova, Thailand and the People's Republic of China. He presents his knowledge under the banner 'Senior Expert Services' in which he facilitates training sessions for professionals across the borders.

During the sessions at Hunar Foundation, Mr. Fritz also mentored the students one-on-one and shared his professional experiences. The students have been delighted and feel better equipped after the completion of the workshops.

Everyone at Hunar Foundation is indebted to Mr. Hans-Lorenz Fritz for successfully conducting the workshops stretching from 4th April to 23rd April 2016.

On his last day Mr. and Mrs. Fritz were presented souvenirs from the management, staff and the students of the institute.

COOPERATIVE VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Hunar Foundation has recently joined hands with GIZ and has introduced Cooperative Vocational Training (CVT) Program in Mechanical Manufacturing and specialised CNC Trade under TVET Support Programme. This is a two-year program where trainees will be selected to get one year training at Hunar Foundation's DMS Technical Institute, Karachi and spend the next year getting On-The-Job training.

A student of CVT program during his practical session

As this program requires partners from the industry who subsidize the cost of the training and give OJT opportunity to students in the second year, four companies – OJ (Omar Jibran) Engineering, PROCON, SuperTech and NES Engineering - have teamed up with Hunar Foundation for this inaugural program.

An awareness and admission campaign was run in newspapers and through handbills that attracted a large number of potential students for the test out of which the first batch was selected to start classes from January 2016.

The program is now in its Eight month and another batch has been inducted in July 2016. The students will soon be working on actual CNC machines that Hunar Foundation is procuring as well as simulators. Normally institutes take students to existing facilities for CNC machine training. But Hunar management felt that presence of machine and simulator on campus would allow for more hours on the machine rather than be constrained by the time granted by any other facility.

This is in line with the Trustees and management's vision that the students get the best and latest equipment and machinery at the campus itself.

The next batch of Cooperative Vocational Training (CVT) Program in Mechanical Manufacturing and specialised CNC Trade will begin in July for which the admission campaign will begin in early June.

Career Fair and Open Day at DMSTI

Hunar Foundation not only offers vocational training to the youth, but also helps them with job placement.

To help facilitate the students better, a career fair was held at Hunar foundation's DMS Technical Institute, Karachi. Around 75 recent graduates alumni attended the event out of which 35 individuals were selected and offered jobs on the spot and the rest called for second interviews.

Some of the latter part of candidates were also offered jobs outside the job fair as Hunar Foundation's Industrial Linkages and Placement office also arranges interviews at the premises of companies and buses Hunar graduates to locations as far away as Port Qasim and Hub.

With the start of the new session in all institutes an Open Day was held where parents of admitted students were invited for tea and snacks and given a guided tour of the campus. It was refreshing to see the parents' happiness that their son was going to study in the same environment and comfort that the children of high net worth individuals do; in some cases better than those schools.

“ I work in a private school as an ‘aya’ where some well-to-do parents send their children. I see the decoration and cleanliness here in Hunar as better than even there. I am so happy my son is studying in a better environment.

Remembering MR. JIWAN DAS

“...he was a legacy in the development sector and with his passing, there will be a great void within the company, the development sector and all the communities he touched.”

- Shanal Kazi who worked with the late Jiwan Das

One of the saddest events of this period was the untimely passing away of Mr. Jiwan Das, Manager CSR & Resettlement at Sindh Engro Coal Mining Company, due to a heart attack. He was only 52 years old.

An amicable, soft spoken man he was quietly persuasive and unrelenting in his efforts to better the life of the common man and the under-privileged areas wherever he worked.

He will be remembered forever for his consistent efforts and dedication towards development initiatives in different areas of Sindh, especially Thar. Mr. Das also actively participated in setting up many primary schools, upgrading of infrastructure, providing books and training to teachers etc. He ran various Anti-Snake Venom Centres during relief projects in Interior Sindh.

His employers SECMC held a memorial ceremony for him in their offices where many people including his children, executives of Engro and various other people from other companies with whom SECMC and Jiwan Das worked were present. Several people came up and recounted the time they spent with Jiwan Das and how they benefited from his knowledge, generosity and passion for serving his people and area.

Hunar Foundation executives will miss him dearly for he was always following up on status of the children's education that Engro was funding at Hunar's Rashidabad campus and that gave an opportunity to meet this fine gentleman regularly.

Hunar Foundation is honored to have known this wonderful humanitarian. Surely his efforts will be cherished and remembered always.

“If the management of any company is committed to social development it can really make the difference between a CSR program that is sustainable and plain charity.”- Jiwan Das

YOUTH EN ROUTE TO SUCCESS

The learning for a lifelong process starts from a single step, Hunar provides that launching-pad to envision A Skilled Pakistan. For the upcoming season, Hunar Foundation opened its doors for applications among all chapters, across the country. Aspiring candidates claim a new hope, a bright stage to set their focus towards their choice of trades to learn vocational trainings.

HUNAR ALUMNI

Ms. Rahmeen Fiza

shares her experience at Hunar Foundation

“The first step towards success is taken when you refuse to be captive of the environment in which you first find yourself.”

Being a part of Hunar Foundation taught me to be who I am today. The certification taught me to trust in my abilities and believe I could achieve my dreams.

I am a national athlete & I started my journey from the ground. My mother was very concerned about my future and insisted that I get some training and secure my future. She came to know about HUNAR FOUNDATION and wanted me to approach the institute for the course details & procedure.

Upon approaching the institute, I was given all the right information and was asked to appear for the entry test & interview. I am glad that I cleared the test and the final interview and was offered admission at the Vocational Institute for Women.

My first day at Hunar Foundation was a great beginning of my life. I attended the classes for four months with well-trained and qualified instructors who worked very hard on us during training. They trained each and every student with complete devotion. In the beginning of the course, I thought we would only be taught the makeup course but I was surprised that we were also offered English Language (focus on spoken), IT and Life Skills classes.

The training at Hunar Foundation benefitted me a lot and now I can confidently say that “I am a professional beautician”.

I would like to thank my instructors at Hunar Foundation for all the support and confidence they provided.

I will always remember the words of my instructor that I should “forget about what others think. Just believe in yourself and make your dreams come true. Take every step with honesty because you are the star of tomorrow’s world”.

ZAKAT AND DONATION

Salaam,

We are writing to you to ask for your support for The Hunar Foundation (Hunar)

Hunar imparts vocational training to young boys and girls from underprivileged background with the support of people like yourself. The training enables these young people to get employed at better salaries and brighter prospects than they would have had otherwise.

In the case of Hunar's trainees, over 80% are now economically engaged.

Over 20 million young Pakistanis need to be trained beyond basic education to be able to get gainful employment. If we fail to do so we risk a potentially social disaster. It is even more distressing that this number is growing rapidly. If this challenge is not addressed urgently many of these young people could become marginalized or even worse, radicalized.

Hunar is directly addressing this challenge. The number of Trainees who qualify from Hunar will almost triple from 700 (in 3 institutes) in end 2015 to 2,000 next year (in 7 institutes).

Our studies show that each graduate of Hunar has a significant impact on the lives of 7 other dependents. As such, by next year Hunar could potentially directly and indirectly help 16,000 such persons across Pakistan. Hunar will try to continue with this rapid growth rate for the foreseeable future.

Very simply, nothing has a greater social and financial impact, both at an individual and national level, than giving for technical and vocational training.

Your support in the form of Zakat and donation will not only assist poverty alleviation and financial and social empowerment, but also ensure these young people don't need Zakat again.

Very simply, this is the best form of Sadqa-e-Jaaria that we can think of.

May Allah bless you,
Trustees, Management & Friends of Hunar Foundation

NOTE: We would further like to mention that Hunar Foundation maintains a separate Shariah compliant account for Zakat.

All Zakat/Donations to The Hunar Foundation are tax exempt.
